

Green Luxury Living at Villa Joss

July 4, 2016

Whoever told you that stylish and luxurious green-living is not possible has never been to Villa Joss.

Even if you have never been to Bali, chances are you have heard about the world-famous beachside venue Ku De Ta. Villa Joss was designed by one of Bali's premier architects, whose famed creations include Ku De Ta.

This amazing four-bedroom villa embraces 'eco green' luxury living combining the simplicity and beauty of natural materials such as leather, stone and recycled teakwood and all the modern comforts of five-star luxury.

A stone's throw away from beautiful Batu Belig Beach in Seminyak, this modern villa boasts an elegant and massive living and dining room area (a 3,6 metre dining table), a four-bedroom pavilion, entertainment room and business centre, and an open air 'bale' (a traditional type of seat in Indonesia) set in the middle of tropical spacious gardens with a 16-metre swimming pool and an outdoor jacuzzi. There is an abundance of space and natural light. Guests are spoiled for choice when it comes to which areas to 'dominate' for relaxing and entertaining.

Named after the owner's daughter, Villa Joss is a child-friendly villa. There are plenty of outdoor space for kids to play and run around or be entertained with the above-average audio-visuals facilities by BOSE. Adults are catered for with a separate media lounge area to watch action movie or sports on the 45” flat screen TV in the garden ‘bale’ or relax on the pool deck.

With a full-time team of staff available at all hours, expect to have the comforts of five-star service for a relaxing and stress-free Bali holiday.
